

R/C planes at Cranland – Oct. 5, 2013

Seven cadets and three seniors went over to Cranland Airport to help them with a fly in and radio control air show. The Bristol County Model Aircraft Club brought lots of really cool planes, including a $\frac{1}{4}$ scale P-51 and P-38 and at least two jets. Lee Woodworth from Wingbusters brought his “Bloaty Floater,” a blow-up pool toy converted to an R/C plane. Mitch Buckley flew the scale jet. Food was “on the house.” All the cadets got plane rides when the event was over.

Lee Woodworth flies his "Bloaty Floater," a blow-up pool toy converted to a working R/C plane.

Cadets "swordfight" with one of the younger visitors.